Forming an illustrious and prolific assembly of hard hitting and club ready remixes, Kastra's created a name for himself that extends beyond the normal scope of an artist at his stage of development with only 2 years under his belt. A critic's favorite, we find Kastra gearing up for an original EP release and working tirelessly to continue to bring his sound to life but before the forthcoming release Kastra's decided to give us an energetic and upbeat take on Rick James' unequivocal and timeless hit, Super Freak.

Delivering on the fertile soundscape already created within the original, Kastra crafts within his reinvention of the classic, an instantly danceable club cut fraught with hip thrust invoking vocals and gritty synth hits bolstered by a decidedly feisty drop employing the melbourne bounce style. With the summer in the height of it's festival season reign, the heat pouring readily into every available crevice and pool parties rising in properly gained popularity, it makes perfect sense to see this as a future favorite for those well versed in nostalgia.
