German production duo Plastik Funk, have been making big room house tracks with a focus on melody and energy. This week, though, they've switched up that style and dialed it down a bit to create a crossover progressive house masterpiece entitled "Here We Go" that you could hear on the radio sometime soon. With uplifting chords and their happy progression supporting the vocals of Sapele, each piece of melody that's included in the track lingers, and with an infectiousness that's familiar but fresh. Oddly enough, "Here We Go" is out on Armada Deep, and is streaming below and via SoundCloud, and available via Beatport.
