Around a year ago, Nova Scotia future house heroes Botnek launched their World Famous Headquarters imprint with the devastatingly groovy "Don't Need U." In the time since, the label has largely been an avenue for their own deliciously wacky productions. However, change is in the air at World Famous Headquarters HQ, as they're ready to welcome outside artists into the fold—starting with a rollicking roller coaster from Das Kapital & MNNR, "XTC," which is excellent enough to warrant a special look as our Track of the Day.

"This year, Botnek decided it was time to focus less on using the label for their own music and instead give back to the inspired and prolific community of producers," the label tells us. "World Famous Headquarters has naturally evolved into a way for Botnek to discover and support
