Pleasurekraft is at it again, this time with the help of Jaceo and Vedic on the track. Their new soon to be anthem has some of the coolest vocals I've heard on a song in such a long time. I love deep tech house tracks that have a big vocal break. Doesn't matter if its singing, talking, a speech, it just is such a nice way to break up the track and then bring it back in with a bang. Love mixing these tracks into my sets, sets a great vibe. This one is a must listen, much love to Pleasurekraft for making nothing but the best all the time.
