

Cocodrills

Where they're from or how they grew up is entirely irrelevant . When they started off and what their influences were are inconsequential. Listing the popular venues they've played or name dropping artist that support them would be disingenuous. This is because a short anecdotal paragraph loaded with DJ/producer cliches wouldn't do their style, or theirsound, any justice. The Cocodrills (Christ ian "Pridef"Diaz, Adam Cruz) pride themselves on creating aunique musical experience, which can only be just that ; experienced. But make sure to leave your pretense at the door 'cause you won't find any bullshit at one of their parties; only funky grooves, positive vibes and rampant debauchery. And while they don't claim to have reinvented the wheel, t hey do like to take that wheel down the road of sound for a ride sowild it wakes up the next morning with not readsmelling of burnt rubber and a wondrous sense of"let's do that again!". Act accordingly.
